Welcome to Grand Pa's Eats! 🍔🏁

Welcome to my personal directory of biker-friendly cafés, pubs, restaurants, and roadside food vans across the UK. As someone who loves nothing more than firing up my bike and heading out for a proper ride, I wanted a central spot to keep track of the best places to park up, grab a brilliant breakfast, burger, or get a hot cuppa. This website is a passion project built entirely for my family, mates, and fellow riders. It combines the two greatest pleasures in life: riding motorcycles and eating great food!

🛑 The Important Bit (Disclaimer)

This is a completely free, non-commercial website created solely for sharing personal recommendations with friends and family.

- Check Before You Ride: Opening hours, prices, and event nights can change without warning. While I try to keep this list up to date, it's always worth double-checking the venue's own social media links before setting off on a long run.
- Ride Safely: The navigation links provided point to exact locations, but road and parking conditions can vary. Park safely, respect the local areas, and keep the rubber side down!

Top Tip:

If you are using a smartphone, consider using landscape mode instead of portrait mode by turning your device 90 degrees, things will be easier to view.

How it works:

- Go to the Table of Contents.
- Press or click either the County name or the venue name.
- You will be taken directly to the correct page.
- All the information you need will be displayed (hopefully).
- At the bottom of the information page, pressing or clicking ‘Go back to the Top’ will return you to the top of the Table of Contents.

For directions:

- Press or click on the What 3 Words URL.

Grand Pa's Eats

- If the What 3 Words app is installed on your device, then that will open automatically. If not then a new browser session will open.
- Select Navigate:

- If you are using the free version of What 3 Words you will have to use either Google Maps or Apple Maps. If you have purchased What 3 Words Pro then press More and you can use a variety of other mapping apps, e.g. Waze.
- Please would you let the café/pub/burger van/restaurant/hotel know if you found them using Grand Pa's Eats, helps spread the good news!

Technical Issue #1:
On iPhone and iPad when opening a .PDF (like https://grandpaseats.co.uk) then zooming in, hyperlinks fail in Safari but still work in Chrome or Firefox. This happens even when using the latest version of iOS.

Background:
Apple has not announced a specific timeline or release date to fix the PDF zoom-hyperlink bug in Safari.

This frustrating issue is a known flaw in the iOS WebKit engine's handling of PDF coordinate maps. When you pinch-to-zoom on a PDF in Safari, the visual layer scales up, but the underlying touch-target layer for the hyperlinks often fails to realign. As a result, the clickable links remain anchored to their original, un-zoomed coordinates, making them completely unresponsive or misaligned where you tap.

Alternative browsers like Chrome or Firefox handle PDFs using independent rendering libraries (like PDF.js), which dynamically update link coordinates during zoom cycles.

Current Workarounds:
Until Apple releases a system patch via an iOS software update, you can use these methods:

1) Change your default browser from Safari to either Chrome or Firefox. These two browsers have been satisfactorily tested.
2) Create a Shortcut to use either Chrome of Firefox as the browser for opening https://grandpaseats.co.uk
3) The Long-Press Method: Instead of a quick tap, tap and hold your finger on the hyperlink while zoomed in. A context menu should pop up, allowing you to select "Open Link" or "Open in New Tab".
4) The "Share to Files" Workaround: Tap the Share button in Safari and save the document to your iPhone's Files app. The native iOS Quick Look engine inside the Files app generally processes zoomed PDF hyperlinks much more reliably than Safari.
5) Temporary Zoom Reset: If you zoom back out to the document's original 100% scale, the hyperlinks will immediately become responsive to standard taps again.

If you want to report this behaviour directly to Apple to help push it up their bug-fix pipeline, you can submit a report through the official Apple Feedback Portal.

Technical Issue #2:
PDF hyperlinks often fail on Android smartphones because default built-in viewers and basic reader apps lack support for interactive features or internal page jumps.

Grand Pa’s Eats

Common Causes:

- Unsupported Default Viewers: Many pre-installed Android PDF viewers or browser plugins only display static text and ignore clickable URLs or internal page-navigation links.
- Internal Page Jumps: Links created to jump to a specific page within a document (such as via InDesign) frequently fail on standard Android mobile applications even when web links operate normally.
- App Limitations: Built-in previewers in apps like Google Drive or lightweight file managers often strip out or fail to process interactive bounding boxes.

How to Fix It:

- Switch PDF Readers: Download a robust third-party app like Xodo PDF Reader or the mobile Microsoft Office App, which reliably handle both web and internal document hyperlinks on Android.
- Download Before Opening: Instead of viewing the file directly inside a web browser or cloud storage preview pane, download the full file to your local device storage first and open it with a dedicated PDF app.
- Update the App: Ensure your chosen PDF reader or Adobe Acrobat Reader app is updated to the latest version from the Google Play Store to fix rendering bugs.
